GROWTH COMPANY SUCCESS STORY

High growth B2C tech environment. Female-founded Healthtech start-up. A health app for mental and physical health scaling across NHS primary care practices and with local authorities, supporting thousands of members of the public.

Challenge

Company had achieved significant success, closed an EIS fund raising round, obtained government funding, had contracts in place with a number of Primary Care Networks and their app has been downloaded over 25,000 times. Scaling very quickly, they needed advisory support to impact at pace for their growth trajectory.

Solution

Open to the idea of connecting with VOCASO community members who could add value and has worked in the high growth B2C tech landscape. In addition a connection to the NHS in some way would be of significant benefit. We connected the CEO with Steve Woodford the ex CIO of Compare the market who at the time was also a NED with NHS Digital. Steve had an ambition to support a purpose led business who's values mirrored their own.

David Goldstone

CEO VOCASO

"Founders sometimes run out of road in terms of experience, networks and potential clients – turning to external support is a way to bridge this gap."
